Car kills cyclist

BROOKLYN. A 29-year-old woman was struck and killed while riding her bike in Bushwick just before 7 p.m. Tuesday night, according to police. Erica Abbott was riding on Bushwick Avenue when she fell off her bike at Powers Street. She was then struck by a 34-year-old woman driving a Mercedes southbound on Bushwick Avenue, said police. Abbott was transported to Woodhull Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival. The Mercedes driver was not charged with any criminality. ● METRO/CB

No aid for Libya?

NEW YORK. U.S. Sen. Charles Schumer (D-New York) is calling on the State Department to not give any aid to the fledgling rebel government in Libya until they return convicted Lockerbie bomber Abdel Baset al-Megrahi to prison. Al-Megrahi, convicted of the 1988 terrorist bombing of Pan-Am flight 103, is reportedly in a coma, and near death, but Schumer said he doesn't believe it.

FDNY: Cancer in firefighters spiked after 9/11

► New report shows increase in blood cancers in firefighters who worked at Ground Zero ► Contradicts federal report citing a lack of evidence

Yes, a link does exist between cancer and Ground Zero.

That's what a new study from the FDNY reportedly says, as New York's Bravest fight back against a federal report that concluded there is not enough evidence to prove cancer was caused by 9/11.

The report, expected out around Sept. 11, directly contradicts the government's findings and will show that blood cancers increased among firefighters who worked on "the pile," the smoldering remains of Ground Zero in the weeks and months after 9/11.

In July, a report from the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health concluded that not enough research is available to tie responders' cancers to Ground Zero toxins.

But the New York Post reported Tuesday that the FDNY's chief medical officer, Dr. David Prezant, compared the data of 11,000 firefighters' health before and after the terrorist attacks. The resulting research shows that firefighters who responded to the World Trade Center have increased rates of cancer, compared to those firefighters who did not.

The news gave a bit of hope to Margaret and Jeff Stroehlein, a firefighter fighting brain cancer — but they're not celebrating yet.

"I think it's a positive sign, but again, until it's official, you can see all the positive signs you want," he said. "Guys are dying."

For the Stroehleins, reality looms in the form of a $220,000 hospital bill they just received — for three weeks of treatment in July.

"It's no secret we're feeling rejected," Margaret said. "I'm getting nervous, and the bills are starting to get larger for Jeff."

"$220,000," he added. "Where are we coming up with that money?"

Park brawl over head scarves

RYE, NEW YORK. More than a dozen people celebrating Ramadan on Tuesday at Rye Playland were arrested following a scrape with law enforcement over a head-scarf ban.

"People felt like they were discriminated against," Zead Ramadan told Metro. Ramadan, the board president of the New York Council on American Islamic Relations, was at the theme park when the incident took place.

He blamed the brawl on a miscommunication between park officials and attendees.

The Muslim American Society of New York invited 3,000 members to the theme park, about 40 minutes outside Manhattan, but neglected to inform them that they must remove their hijabs before getting on the rides, he said. Park officials said

The park was shut down as dozens of officers arrived at the scene and charged at least 15 people with disorderly conduct and assault in the chaos. Two police officers were also injured in the fight, according to reports.

they ban all headgear on rides, such as baseball hats, because they can be dangerous.

Witnesses told the New York Daily News that when the women learned they could not ride while covering their heads, they requested a refund.

That's when witnesses say police began pushing women to the ground and the brawl broke out.

Go ahead, make a day of it: City beaches better

► Seven of the city's beaches improved since 2007, when they were all given grades of F for cleanliness

Don't worry if you can't make it to the Hamptons this Labor Day weekend — city beaches are the cleanest they've been in the past five years, according to a new study.

According to the "Report Card on Beaches," released this month by a group called New Yorkers for Parks, city beaches have cleaned up their act.

The average beach score was 87 percent — a B+ in the report — up from an average of 59 percent — an F — in 2007.

"[The beach is] really clean compared to the past years."

Volunteers examined beaches' shorelines, pathways, bathrooms and drinking fountains for maintenance, cleanliness, safety and structure.

Where can you find the city's cleanest beach? That'd be South Beach in Staten Island, which went from "unsatisfactory" and a 56 percent approval rating in 2009 to a 99 percent approval rating this year. Orchard Beach in the Bronx also ranked high, with a 95 percent rating.

In Brooklyn, Coney Island/Brighton Beach and Manhattan Beach also improved from "unsatisfactory" and "challenged" in ► Yisenia Gutierrez, left, said she no longer has qualms about bringing her 3-year-old son, Leonidaz, to play at Coney Island.

Clean restrooms

Bathrooms at the beach are important, and the study found that restrooms have improved 10 percent since 2009.

- Fewer bathrooms were locked this year, and volunteers found a sufficient amount of paper towels and hand dryers.
- Coney Island reported the worst bathrooms citywide.

2007 to "very good" when rated this year.

At Coney Island, Yisenia Gutierrez said she now feels comfortable bringing her 3-year-old, Leonidaz, to play.

"It used to be like, as soon as you see the sand, you see everything — diapers, glass," she said.

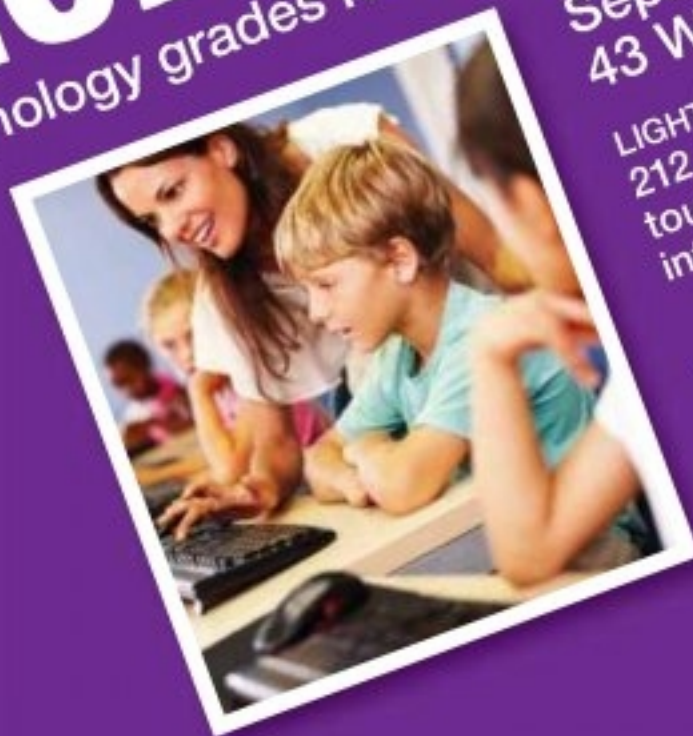

Joseph Yassin said when he and classmates from Brooklyn Technical High School used to dig holes on Coney Island beaches in previous summers, they found money, slippers and an umbrella. He notes that the sand is "cleaner than past years."

All seven city beaches improved in 2001, with only one beach — Wolfe's Pond Beach in Staten Island — receiving a 62 percent rating of "challenged," with reports of litter and debris clogging the sand.

New York City is a town looking for love. A new survey by Match.com discovered that 94 percent of site users who live in New York are looking to settle down and stay in the Big Apple.

By polling 1,000 users in the most populous dating pool in the country, Match found out the best neighborhoods to take a date, the sexiest jobs a man or woman can have and whether or not it's okay to go Dutch.

One hot topic was interborough dating: 94 percent of New Yorkers are willing to commute for love, but only 71 percent of them are willing to schlep more than 40 minutes from their apartments.

► Newport and Fire Island came in a close second and third option, respectively.

Manhattan and Brooklyn singles were the most desirable, and only eight percent of daters were willing to travel to Staten Island to meet someone.

Don't dare meet up at a chain restaurant, a karaoke bar or Times Square — you won't get asked out again, respondents said.

Ladies voted Wall Street bankers and firefighters as two of the sexiest professions for men, while the guys said that they prefer women who work in either fashion or entertainment.

Floodwaters finally started to recede from areas of the northeast devastated by Hurricane Irene but many communities were still underwater on Wednesday and relief workers battled cut-off roads and raging rivers to deliver emergency supplies.

FALL MOVIE GUIDE

This weekend

► 'The Debt'

Helen Mirren plays a secret agent seeking the killer of Nazi crimes she first investigated in 1965.

► 'Shark Night 3D'

Sharks will eat innocent humans by way of a demented psychopath who uses the deadly sea creatures as his instruments of torture.

► 'Apollo 18'

Revisionist history is always fun — especially when it involves aliens wandering around on the moon in the late 1960s. Comprised of "found footage," we hear this film being dubbed as "Blair Witch In Space."

► 'A Good Old-Fashioned Orgy'

A hapless partier (Jason Sudeikis) tries to get his friends to have an orgy in his father's empty Hamptons home.

● METRO/HP

Is it just us or are you also ready for some meatier material now that Transformers and barbarians and superheroes have trampled through the movie theaters for the last three months? We've rounded up some of the most noteworthy films coming out this season — and even put aside a selection of lighthearted films that will let you pretend you're still going to the movies just to be in the air conditioning.

heidi.patalano@metro.us

Ripped from the history books

These aren't your average costume dramas. The period pieces most popular with today's audiences take place within the last 60 years. Though only "J. Edgar" is based on historical fact, these three will no doubt get some award nods down the line, in part for their period charm.

► Oct. 28: 'The Rum Diary' Johnny Depp continues his lifelong homage to gonzo journalist Hunter S. Thompson in this movie based on the author's novel by the same name.

► Nov. 9: 'J. Edgar' With Clint Eastwood directing and Leonardo DiCaprio taking a little time off from his best bud Martin Scorsese, this biopic is an easy frontrunner on every must-see list.

► Nov. 18: 'Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy' Set in Cold War-era Britain in the 1970s, this flick stars Gary Oldman as an intelligence expert on the dangerous, potentially deadly search for a Russian mole within MI6.

► Leonardo DiCaprio plays the legendary J. Edgar Hoover in the biopic directed by Clint Eastwood.

Ripped off from another movie

Borrowing from an old movie or remaking it entirely isn't always a bad thing. As a matter of fact, these formulas keep getting repeated because we keep paying good money to see them! Here are some plots that may seem vaguely familiar.

► Sept. 16: 'Straw Dogs' This remake of the original 1971 film moves the setting to the Deep South, where a newly relocated husband and wife (James Marsden and Kate Bosworth) are confronted by hostile locals.

► Sept. 23: 'Killer Elite' When is Jason Statham ever NOT a skilled killer on a mission to knock off some dudes? Here, he's out to avenge his mentor, played by Robert De Niro.

► Oct. 7: 'The Thing' It's never too soon for a remake, especially of this 1982 classic originally starring Kurt Russell.

► Oct. 21: 'Paranormal Activity 3' Why are horror films always the easiest to repeat over and over and over again?

► Oct. 21: 'The Three Musketeers' This new "Musketeers" differentiates itself with improved special effects and Christoph Waltz.

► Nov. 4: 'Tower Heist' Billing itself as "an urban 'Ocean's 11'" this heist film starring Ben Stiller, Eddie Murphy and Matthew Broderick could be ridiculous fun or a full-on disaster. We're pulling for the former.

► Nov. 23: 'The Muppets' There's nothing wrong with reviving the ever-charming Muppets, this time with a script written by Jason Segel, who also co-stars with the lovable crew.

Ripped from the headlines

Does being "the movie of our time" always translate into big box-office bucks? The studios are hoping so with these thrillers that are all closely (sometimes unnervingly) related to current events.

► Sept. 9: 'Contagion' This ensemble thriller takes the panicked outbreak of the Avian flu in 2009 and twists it into the realization of our worst nightmares. Steven Soderbergh directs.

► Sept. 23: 'Moneyball' This baseball movie is based on the groundbreaking drafting methods of Oakland A's general manager, Billy Beane. Take comfort, ladies. Brad Pitt stars as Beane alongside Jonah Hill, Robin Wright and Phillip Seymour Hoffman.

► Oct. 21: 'Margin Call' This thriller will likely capture the desperate atmosphere of the 2009 financial crisis in a way that Oliver Stone tried and failed at with "Wall Street 2: Money Never Sleeps." More directly based on the crash, director J.C. Chandor's first film stars Zachary Quinto, Stanley Tucci and Kevin Spacey.

► Oct. 7: 'The Ides of March' Based on the play "Farragut North," this political thriller depicts the manipulations behind the scenes of a presidential campaign loosely based on that of Howard Dean. The hot factor is turned way up with Ryan Gosling and George Clooney co-starring as a political aide and electoral candidate, respectively.

Light and easy

Just because summer is over doesn't mean you have to wean yourself off the mindless fluff. A steady supply will keep coming.

► Sept. 9: 'Bucky Larson: Born to Be a Star' Nick Swardson plays a Midwestern hick who travels to Hollywood to become a porn star.

► Sept. 16: 'I Don't Know How She Does It' Sarah Jessica Parker moves beyond Carrie Bradshaw to play a mom trying to keep her job, family and sanity intact.

► Sept. 30: 'What's Your Number?' Anna Faris considers the frightening number of men she's bedded and tracks down each ex in order find her true love.

► Oct. 7: 'Real Steel' Only two words need to be said here: boxing robots!

► Oct. 28: 'In Time' Built on the concept of a world where people stop aging at 25, this film stars two of the prettiest twentysomethings around — Justin Timberlake and Amanda Seyfried.

► Oct. 28: 'Safe' Elite Agent played by (shocker!) Jason Statham faces off with the Russian mafia. We're beginning to think that this man has a prop gun surgically attached to his hand.

► Nov. 4: 'A Very Harold and Kumar 3D Christmas' We can't wait to see what this stoner franchise is going to do with 3-D effects. Hallucination sequences are mandatory.

► Nov. 11: 'Jack and Jill' Adam Sandler cross-dresses to play his own twin sister. We know, you can't wait.

► Nov. 18: 'The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn Part 1' Nothing needs to be said here, except: Edward and Bella forever!

Must-see

We selected a few films that we think will be this season's cream of the crop.

► Sept. 16: 'Drive' The director of "Bronson" takes on this moody, noirish tale of a Hollywood stunt driver (Ryan Gosling — he's been busy lately) who moonlights as a getaway car driver for criminals. We've seen this one already and promise it is worth seeing.

► Oct. 14: 'The Skin I Live In' One of the most highly anticipated releases of the fall will be Pedro Almodovar's thriller about a demented plastic surgeon who experiments on a captive human subject.

► Oct. 21: 'Martha Marcy May Marlene' This tale got a thumbs-up from the festival circuit. We expect to be delightfully creeped out by the sad story of a woman experiencing post-traumatic stress after leaving a mysterious cult. ► Oct. 28: 'Like Crazy' This tender coming-of-age tearjerker stars Felicity Jones and "Fright Night" cutie Anton Yelchin as star-crossed lovers trying to make a long-distance relationship work.

► Nov. 11: 'Melancholia' Director Lars Von Trier has been quoted as saying his latest work is his most hopeless film yet. The last one he did was called "Antichrist" ... so, you figure it out.

► Nov. 23: 'The Descendants' The film industry serves you, on a silver platter, the movie you will go see with your parents when you're home for Thanksgiving. George Clooney plays the husband to a comatose wife who's gliding by until he is suddenly faced with the duty of raising his two daughters.

Escape from the uncanny valley

▶ Jamie Bell, star of 'The Adventures of Tintin' on the technology that turned him into the beloved character

Jamie Bell can handle just about any challenge he can face as an actor. His first role ever after all, was that of the iconic 14-year-old dancing savant in "Billy Elliot," back in 2000. Earlier this year, he fenced his way through complex fight scenes in icy rivers for the Roman epic "The Eagle." And this winter, he will take on one of the most beloved characters of all time using motion-capture technology for "The Adventures of Tintin."

It sounds as though acting with a green screen might be difficult, but Bell is quick to dismiss this as any kind of challenge.

"An actor who enters into a motion capture film will bring to the table exactly what they bring to the table in a live-action film," he says. "The only difference is that you don't wear costumes and the props in front of you are representative of what they are in the virtual world."

As a young child, the 25-year-old Brit had loved the Tintin comics, which served as an inspiration to him.

"Everything he did, I wanted to do myself," he says. "I wanted to be a journalist. Obviously, I definitely don't want to do that now, because I've met so many of them. Traveling the world, great, always wanted to do that as a child. Tintin did it every week on my TV set."

Not many people get to see themselves animated into one of their favorite fictional characters from child-

Quoted

"They are outrageous together. They are bone-crunchingly, ball-bouncingly funny."

BELL ON HIS "TINTIN" CO-STARS, COMEDY DUO SIMON PEGG AND NICK FROST, WHO PLAY THE THOMPSON TWINS

hood and for Bell, seeing animated scenes from the Steven Spielberg-helmed "Tintin" was a little unsettling.

"It's weird seeing my facial articulations, all that stuff, on another person's body with another person's face, but I think that's only weird to me," he says. "I think [people] will be blown away by how advanced this technology is, how good the animation is, how, 'oh thank God it's not like those other films' [it is]. We've really stepped up the bar."

So long, uncanny valley!

"Obviously for us to talk about [an uncanny valley], is death," says Bell. "An uncanny valley is when the [animated] eyes are not engaged in an emotional way. Luckily, they've managed to fix that. I feel like people are going to forget what uncanny valley means and that's what we're looking for."

Hollywood's next princess

► Appearing in this fall's thriller 'Abduction,' young actress Lily Collins discusses working with 'Twilight' star Taylor Lautner and her upcoming role as Snow White

Collins

Maybe call her this year's Emma Roberts. As the daughter of artist Phil Collins, 22-year-old Lily Collins may have had an inside track to Hollywood stardom (like Roberts, niece of Julia), but that doesn't mean her early success was unearned. This fall, Collins is appearing alongside Taylor Lautner in the action-thriller "Abduction" (Sept. 23) and she's currently shooting one of two Snow White films due to hit theaters next year. She took a moment from the set of the Snow White film, currently being shot in Montreal, to chat with Metro.

In "Abduction" you seem to be running from lots of explosions and fires. Did Taylor Lautner have any advice on how to approach the stunt work?

He seems to be quite fearless in life anyway. He'll just be standing and then all of a sudden he'll do a back flip because he can do that ... He just jumps into things without being afraid so it kind of motivated me, with my lack of experience, to try to dive into it as well.

Tell us about shooting "Snow White."

I've been in Montreal since the end of May. It's been long and grueling, fencing and fight training and wearing costumes that weigh so much every day. It's a fairy tale every single moment and it's been incredible.

How do you feel about the fact that there's another Snow White project being shot right now with Kristen Stewart in the same role?

I'm very aware of the other project and I've read the script and I know that they're so completely different. I am really excited for Kristen. I think she's perfect for that vision of Snow White and I'm very excited to take on the vision that [director Tarsem Singh] has. They couldn't be more different so it's actually kind of exciting.

Would you like to study the Bible – seriously?

"Be diligent to present yourself approved to God, a worker who does not need to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

2 Timothy 2:15

Lots of people discuss the Bible, but not as many study it carefully and comprehensively. If you are willing to invest some time and effort (not money) we will help. Private and small group studies are available on a variety of subjects and study levels.

QUESTIONS FOR KENNY WORMALD

The star of the 'Footloose' reboot, which hits theaters on Oct. 14, talks about stepping into Kevin Bacon's dancing shoes. HEIDI PATALANO

Step aside, Kevin Bacon. Kenny Wormald is about to reinvent what the world thinks of when they hear the word "Footloose." Well, actually Wormald just wants to make sure he doesn't dishonor Bacon, who first inhabited the role of Ren McCormack in the original 1984 film. The 26-year-old Boston native was excited to take on the role for its 2011 reboot, but is holding his breath for the film's release.

"Now that I've completed the film and I've seen it, the pressure is more on whether the world is going to accept me as that character," Wormald says. "I was a huge fan of the original, and I knew how close to the heart people held this film. You just want to do good for them and do good by Kevin [Bacon]."

Since Wormald is relatively new on the Hollywood scene, we asked the former dancer for Justin Timberlake a few random questions in order to get to know him better.

► Julianne Hough plays Ariel and Kenny Wormald plays Ren (second from center) in "Footloose."

1 What's the best advice you've ever been given?

"You've got two ears and one mouth. You should listen twice as much as you talk." Marc Anthony told me that when I was dancing for J. Lo.

2 Did Justin Timberlake ever give you good advice?

No, he never told me what to do but he showed me through action, how to handle being a megastar ... just being a humble dude, keeping your family close and saying thank you to everyone. He is literally loved by everyone around him. That is something I strive for, and I believe that will help you stick around in this business for a long time.

3 If you had to eat at one fast-food chain for the rest of your life, which one would it be?

In-and-Out Burger is kind of my go-to. It would suck for your whole life because it's only burgers but that being said, you don't feel that bad because it's good quality meat.

4 What reality show do you not usually admit to watching?

"Project Runway." Reality TV is kinda stupid for the most part, but they're actually talented.

5 At a party you'll find me ...

Making the best playlist possible because usually when I go to my friend's house, the music sucks, and I'm immediately trying to get on his iTunes to fix the vibe.

Bonus question

Do you have a favorite word? Lately we've been saying, "done." Like your friend is calling you saying, "Hey bud, you wanna go see a movie in 30?" "Done." ... Which is now becoming "dunzo."

A Giant leap forward?

► Who are Young the Giant? ► They're only the band that brought the most rock to the VMAs last Sunday ► But how much does that matter to them?

Singer Sameer Gadhia has no idea how many people bought his band's debut album after Young the Giant rocked the MTV Music Video Awards on Sunday. But he was able to measure the success of the performance in another way.

"On Facebook we gained 10,000 new fans in the last 24 hours," he says. "Every single person that I've probably ever met in my whole life has contacted me in the last few days, saying, 'I saw you on the VMAs and it was so cool!'"

What those new fans and old acquaintances witnessed was an electrifying four minutes of the only performance close to rock 'n' roll on the VMAs, made extra special by MTV allowing 300 Young the Giant friends and fans from the band's hometown of Irvine, Calif., to rock out in the front section. Gadhia says the fans' zeal was carefully cultivated.

"It was kind of weird," he laughs. "They were actually able to see the whole show via dress rehearsal, which was cool. They were like the ► Gadhia, center, says the Young the Giant fans in front of him at Sunday's VMAs were kept "stir-crazy" for six or seven hours.

Young and the restless

"I don't think the VMAs are going to be that thing that's going to break us," says Gadhia. "I don't know if there's ever going to be something like that for us. For us, it's more the organic growth, and that's something we are happy about. We do not want to be the next buzz band, because inevitably you're set up to fail. We want to do it the old school way and earn our fan base, and maybe with the second or third album smack people upside the head who didn't know us, as we've been building in silence."

only people there, so I think they got a kick out of that — but after that, they weren't allowed to have any electronics on them. I didn't know they were going to be this strict, but they kept them on lockdown in this nice ballroom. ... They kept them kinda stir-crazy for six or seven hours."

Gadhia says he got to watch the whole show, which boasted a roster only a little more diverse than Young the Giant's tour-mates. The band has shared bills with jam bands like Dispatch and modern rock acts like Neon Trees. On their current tour, they're opening for Incubus.

"We don't like limiting the type of people that should listen to our music," says Gadhia.

The timeline

Although it's been almost a decade since Lauryn Hill has released a new album, the Grammy-winning singer is headlining Rock the Bells for the second year in a row. While she may not have the most prolific recording career, many of hip-hop's leaders cite Ms. Hill as an influence, and what she lacks in recorded output, she makes up for in interesting history.

- ▶ 1987: Along with school pals Wyclef Jean and Pras Michel, Hill forms the Fugees.
- ▶ 1994: While Hill is a freshman at Columbia University, the Fugees release their debut, "Blunted On Reality."
- ▶ 1996: The Fugees follow-up,

"The Score" becomes one of the biggest hip-hop albums of all time. Having gained respect as an MC, Hill's singing voice leads to their biggest hit, "Killing Me Softly" and two Grammys.

- ▶ 1997: Hill has her first of five children with Rohan Marley, son of Bob Marley.
- ▶ 1998: Her soulful and conscious solo debut, "The Mis-education Of Lauryn Hill" sits at Billboard's No. 1 for four weeks. Later that year she is dogged by rumors that she told MTV she'd "rather starve than have white people buy her albums." Hill calls into the Howard Stern Show to deny the rumors. MTV also calls the allegations false.

- ▶ 1999: Hill becomes the first woman nominated in 10 Grammy categories in one year and the first to win five in one night, including Album Of The Year.
- ▶ 2002: After stepping away from the spotlight, Hill drops "MTV Unplugged No. 2.0," debuting at No. 3 on the Billboard 200. While most artists had used the unplugged format to rework earlier hits, ▶ No, it's not "Purple Rain"-era Prince. It's Ms. Lauryn Hill, last weekend at the Rock the Bells show in California.

Hill doesn't revisit any previously released songs. The sparse arrangements feel more like a collection of demos than a complete work. Her song "Mystery of Iniquity" would later be the basis of one of Kanye West's early hits, "All Falls Down."

- ▶ 2004-2006: The Fugees reunite for "Dave Chappelle's Block Party," and perform on the BET Awards, but after a short tour, old tensions reappear. Hill is said to insist on being called "Ms. Hill." In an interview she refers to the group as "a conspiracy to

This week, @liljorkandkid was miffed that Irene messed up Boston Metro's publishing schedule, @MjLamp and @PushitupACV2 keep me informed of their Labor Day plans, and everyone else writes in about the news that Nancy Grace will be on DWTS. Egad!

▶ @liljorkandkid I wish the metro was published today. I have nothing better to do than tweet u on my way to work

▶ @MjLamp Tennis, anyone? I'll be @usopen

▶ @PushitupACV2 hitting the beach, local rest. and the gym.

▶ @happywithmy-name She'll sue everyone who doesn't vote for her...

▶ @dsensationale without the Casey Anthony trial, i suppose she has some free time.

▶ @zeitlingeist Maybe she'll force them to choreograph her dances to her own Casey Anthony commentary.

▶ @MeredithAtMetro just read she 'thought she was dreaming' when she got the call to do it. being asked on DWTS sounds like a nightmare to me.

THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip t @dorothyatmetro m dorothy.robinson@metro.us

When skeletons attack!

Once upon a time, there were two living skeletons. One was an entertainment journalist named Giuliana Rancic and the other was called LeAnn Rimes, and she was once famous for being a singer but is now known to us because of cheating and weddings and showing off her bones in bathing suits or whatever. Now, these two skeletons have both become much more skeletal recently (which is hard to do when you're already a skeleton but somehow these two pulled it off). Then, the reporter skeleton had the nerve to tell the Huffington Post that the singing/home-wrecking skeleton seemed "a little thin right now" and went as far as saying, "I think she looks great when she's a bit curvier."

Well, the singing/home-wrecking skeleton didn't like this too much and tweeted to her: "@GiulianaRancic hey, we should go to dinner sometime."

You get criticized all the time for how small you are. You can see just HOW much I eat and maybe put a stop to this crazy 'shrinking' once and for all."

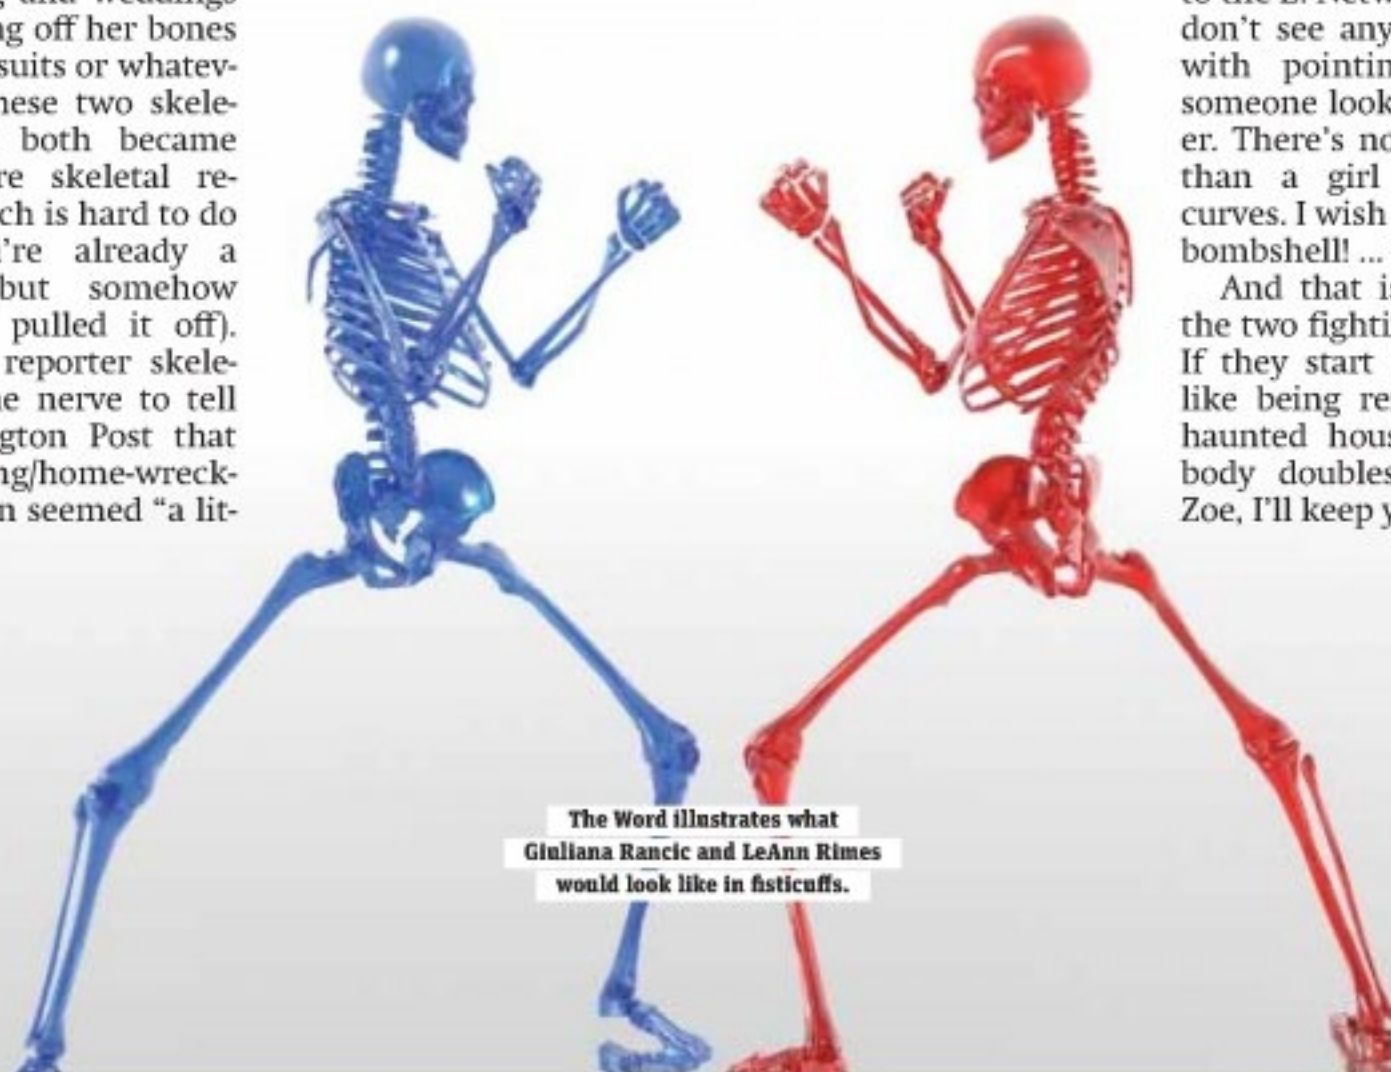

But the Rancic skeleton wouldn't back down! No, she just held up her tiny bony fists and then went to the E! Network to say: "I don't see anything wrong with pointing out that someone looks good curvier. There's nothing hotter than a girl with some curves. I wish I was a curvy bombshell! ... trust me!"

And that is the tale of the two fighting skeletons. If they start new careers, like being rented out for haunted houses or being body doubles for Rachel Zoe, I'll keep you posted.

His first car accident

Justin Bieber reached another milestone — his first fender-bender. The 17-year-old singer's black Ferrari reportedly collided with a Honda Civic in an underground parking structure, according to the L.A. Times. Bieber was behind the wheel at the time. "No one was injured and there was no damage to either vehicle," the LAPD said in a statement. Glad we could all share in this life step with him.

Bieber

Talking points

Their Canadian getaway

Jessica Biel and Justin Timberlake put an end to their relationship back in March, but now there's speculation that their breakup might not stick, according to Hollyscoop. Biel and Timberlake were spotted recently sharing brunch and a leisurely bike ride in Toronto, where Biel is currently filming. "They were in good spirits," an eyewitness says. "They seemed happy. They had brunch together. They were talking. They enjoyed their food. They had a nice time." But even if the pair are rekindling their flame, don't expect Timberlake to get too talkative about it. "In my 30 years, she is the most special person," he told

Vanity Fair in June. "I don't want to say much more, because I have to protect things that are dear to me — for instance, her."

Baby time for Weisz?

Newlyweds Rachel Weisz and Daniel Craig haven't ruled out adding a baby to their household, but the motivation has to be right, Weisz tells Lucky magazine. "Oh, I wouldn't make [a baby] just for the sake of giving my son a sibling," she says. "But you never know." Weisz has a 5-year-old son, Henry, from her relationship with Darren Aronofsky, while Craig has a 19-year-old daughter, Ella, from a previous marriage.

Lively treks it to Australia

Blake Lively made quite the trek for a belated birthday dinner with rumored boyfriend Leonardo DiCaprio, reportedly flying to Australia, where he's filming "The Great Gatsby," according to Us Weekly. Sources say the pair shared a romantic dinner in Sydney to toast Lively's 24th birthday. It was something of a whirlwind trip, though, as the "Gossip Girl" star was back at work in New York by Tuesday, sources confirm.

In honor of Labor Day, here are a few 'working' stars

1: Taylor Hicks lended a hand to Habitat For Humanity on March 18 of last year in Birmingham, Ala.

2: Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge shoveled earth during a tree planting ceremony as her husband Prince William, Duke of Cambridge, looked on at Rideau Hall on July 2 in Ottawa, Canada.

3: Bette Midler and her trusty shovel attended the 2011 MillionTreesNYC Arbor Day Planting and Celebration at the NYCHA Justice Sonia Sotomayor Community Center on April 28 in the Bronx.

4: Rosario Dawson worked for the Hollywood Habitat for Humanity on June 18 in Burbank, Calif.

5: P. Diddy actually got his hands dirty at the Toffee Park Adventure Playground and Youth Centre while helping volunteers for Orange Rock Corps on July 11 in London.

6: Brad Pitt volunteered at the Global Green USA's first house project at the Holy Cross Neighborhood Association project in the Ninth Ward district of New Orleans on Aug. 21, 2007.

Best bets for college football

► The season is just getting started, and you don't want to miss any of the action ► Don your jerseys and hit these bars for game night

Little Town

118 E. 15th St., 212-677-6300
Little Town — affiliated with Penn State, Oregon and UF — is offering up $5 Bloody Marys, $10 Bud Light pitchers and $20 Bud Light buckets of six all day during game days. If you're hungry, the newly revised menu has classic comforts like sloppy joes and chicken fingers — which are pretzel-crusted! Little Town runs sideBar as well as the Village Pourhouse franchise, so those drink deals are available on 15th St. too.

Mad River

1442 Third Ave., 212-988-1832
Wisconsin watchers, this is your spot: The bar boasts fifteen 50" HD screens to catch all the action. Get your hands dirty with wing buckets (deals range from $5 for 8 to $20 for 50) and wash it all down with Coors Light pitchers ($12), apple pie shots ($4) or Wandos 100-ounce fishbowls (free for parties of 10 or more).

Sharp
70-inch class

Grade: 00000

These are great sets that offer smooth and reliable 3-D that's gaming optimized. They are also really, really huge. Like, Godzilla huge. The largest model maxes out at 70 inches, which is enough to impress any neighbor that comes within blocks of your apartment. The only downside? With great power comes great fiscal responsibility. They cost $5,000.

Google is launching a new Gmail Web app and updating Calendar and Docs in an effort to increase its products' offline utility. Google users have called bringing these services offline an essential step for improving productivity, Group Product Manager Rajen Sheth told Mashable. Google is launching a new Chrome app called Gmail Offline. Separate from Gmail itself, the new app is designed for accessing, managing and sending e-mail while you're disconnected from the Web. It looks a lot like the Gmail app for tablets. That's because it's based off the tablet version, which was designed to function with or without Internet access.

Experts believe that 3-D televisions are about to become big business Take a look at these top models

We all know analysts are never wrong. Recently, they've been using their razor-sharp noggins to suggest that 3-D televisions are about to ascend geekdom and become, well, popular. Maybe it's time to finally get one. Here are reviews of a few recently released models that are optimized for video games. Prices vary by size.

Samsung:
750 and 950 series
Grade: 00000

Holy crikey. Some people tend to think 3-D is overrated shtick, but this is by far the best overrated shtick you are likely to set glasses on. The colors and layers really pop. There are no latency problems when 3-D gaming, and the 950 even adds the effect to 2-D games. These sets could make believers out of even the most cynical "Avatar" haters.

LG: Infinia LX Series

Grade: 00000

This would be a fantastic television if it didn't bother with that whole 3-D thing. The regular modes are stunning. Unfortunately, just like "The Clash of the Titans," not all things were meant to transcend the second dimension. The 3-D here is kind of washed out and doesn't allow for any picture adjustment. You know, just like real life.

Making your own carbonated concoctions

► From fruit sodas, fizzy juices, root beers and cola brews to sparkling, herbal and healing waters, 'Homemade Soda' has the recipe ► Drink up!

The DIY craze, which makes wannabe homemakers age their own cheese and brew craft beer, has reached our cola. But before you shake your head and hide your stash of Pepsi, read the soothing words of cook-book author Andrew Schloss: "Making soda yourself is stupid easy," he reassures. "All you need is a sauce pan, some tall glasses and lots of ice. If you have a soda siphon [such as Sodastream] it greatly expands the possibilities." Of course, there's one more addition you might want: Schloss' new book, "Homemade Soda."

Why make homemade soda when it's so easy to just go out and buy it?

There are several benefits — less sugar, for one. The recipes in the book have about half the sweetener that's in most commercial sodas and if you want to lower your consumption of high fructose corn syrup, there is none in homemade sodas. It isn't even available to home cooks. The other benefit is flavor — you can be way more creative than soda manufacturers who have to appeal to a mass market. There's also nutrition. By working with fresh juices and purees you can actually get real nutrients into your soda.

How did you come up with so many recipes for soda?

The flavor combinations of sodas are almost limitless. I look at flavors that go together in chewable foods and in different cuisines, not just those typical for beverages, when I'm thinking about making sodas.

What is a big misconception about homemade soda?

That it is difficult to make. It can be as simple as sweetening juice or tea or coffee or a pureed fruit and mixing it with carbonated water.

Which is your favorite recipe? I love the fermented honey soda because it is made from three ingredients and the flavor of the honey is transformed. It is awesomely delicious.

What's the best way for a novice soda-maker to start?

Buy a bottle of seltzer and mix it into a little bit of honey and lemon juice — completely refreshing.

ALEX MCCORD OF "THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF NEW YORK CITY"

GOING BACK TO SCHOOL FOR ME

It's Labor Day weekend, and school starts next week. Sometimes I think I'm more excited about it than the kids. No, not for the obvious reasons like getting them out of the house, a stable routine, less time together so they're not killing each other. No, it's something much more trivial — the shopping!

There's something so satisfying about sitting down after the kids are in bed with a glass of wine, the laptop and all the time in the world to obsess over jacket labels, multicolored pocket folders, sneakers and personalized backpacks. I don't feel guilty about it, because it isn't for me; plus, I'm not buying anything I wasn't urged to by their teachers and administrators. Well, they didn't actually tell me to get them monogrammed dinosaur and camouflage backpacks with matching lunch boxes, water bottles and food containers ... but they have to put their supplies and snacks in something, right?

When I was a kid, online shopping didn't exist. I was dragged around by my mother to store after store in search of the perfect sandal. Today, a child's new shoe is at most two clicks away; it can be bought without all of the editorializing and whining. Now it's a chore that moms can enjoy.

"BACHMANN: IRENE IS GOD'S MESSAGE FOR WASHINGTON," MSNBC.MSN.COM, AUG. 28.

Tea Party-animal Michelle Bachmann told a Florida audience this week that Hurricane Irene was God's way of sending a message to the United States.

(What, we should we stock up on batteries?)

Bachmann's campaign has since explained that the congresswoman — an avowed evangelical Christian — was joking. If so, we don't get the joke. (Would someone so devout really trivialize the word of God?) Regardless, there's a disturbing trend of justifying human death and suffering as instruments of God's judgment. We hereby warn the practitioners of such: It goes both ways.

Horoscope

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. The funds that will enable you to get something that you've wanted for a long time but always felt was too expensive are apt to finally become available. With the extra cash in your pocket, you can go for it.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Whether or not you realize it, your influence over your peer group is stronger than you think. Others will be easily swayed by the example you set.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Keep a matter that is of a sensitive, secretive nature between yourself and closely involved parties. For best results in resolving the matter, you need to maintain its exclusivity.

Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. When a close friend tells you something in confidence, he or she might leave it to your discretion as to whether or not another pal should be let in on the secret. Choose wisely.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. A material desire could end up functioning as a powerful motivator for you. If you really want something badly enough, you will be capable of figuring out how to acquire it.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. It's more important for you to take a long-range view of things where your self-interests are concerned, instead of worrying about how to get what you want right now.

Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. You're very blessed, because someone who loves you is aware of your present wants, and will knock themselves out trying to figure out ways to acquire them for you.

Aries March 21-April 19. Help with a critical yet perplexing decision is on its way. Listen carefully to the new alternatives being presented — one of them holds the key to your dilemma.

Taurus April 20-May 20. Perform to the very best of your abilities without thinking about what's in it for you. If you do a good job, the accolades will manifest.

Gemini May 21-June 20. You've heard it a thousand times: Relax and just be yourself when dealing with others, be they bigwigs or small fries. Whatever charisma you possess cannot be forced, so play it cool.

Cancer June 21-July 22. As soon as you get everyone in accord regarding a family matter, put the wheels in motion and you'll get good results. Sit on things and you'll waste another toothsome opportunity.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Don't base an important decision solely on its material aspects. It'll be important to put credence in other factors, such as ethics. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

A&M to leave Big 12

If all goes according to plan, Texas A&M will be saying goodbye to the Big 12 and rival Texas after 2012. If the Aggies are accepted in an as yet unspecified conference — they'd prefer the SEC — this would be their final season in the conference they were a founding member of. ● METRO

In the news

Montero called up to Yankees

That sound Jorge Posada hears are footsteps coming up behind him.

ESPN reported Jesus Montero will be called up today, when rosters expand. Baseball America ranked the catcher-DH as the top prospect in the Yankees' system.

Giants running out of time

Big Blue has holes on its roster the size of its namesake, but unfortunately for them there's not much time left in the preseason to figure it all out.

Tonight's fourth and final exhibition matchup won't do much in remedying the Giants' ills, particularly since head coach Tom Coughlin said the length of playing time for his starters is up in the air.

"That will be determined as we go along," Coughlin said. "I'm not going to say anything just yet."

Perhaps it's a good thing the much-maligned reserves will see most of the action. As Coughlin put it following Monday night's loss to the Jets, the backups need all the reps they can get. Improvement can only come in the form of this game, as a week from Sunday the regular season begins.

Coughlin, who's never really been known to make excuses, did admit the quick turnaround from Monday to Thursday has hampered his team. Hurricane Irene inconvenienced all teams along the Eastern Seaboard, but Coughlin seems to think it affected his squad a little bit more.

"You are supposed to be in training camp to prepare and that certainly means to practice. Just take a look at the practices we will not have this week. You are talking about a force of nature. You're not talking about someone making a decision not to practice," Coughlin said. "We were all caught short. This week, you are only talking about jog throughs. ... Nobody is complaining, [but] it is just not an optimum situation."

● METRO/TW

Giants receivers continue struggles

A situation that hasn't been optimal this preseason is the play of any receiver not named Hakeem Nicks or Mario Manningham.

The Jets picked off Manning twice and on the first one it was in direct correlation to a receiver not adjusting his route to help out his quarterback. Such miscommunication has hindered Big Blue drives.

Manning isn't worried.

"We're ready and I don't think anything's wrong [because] we've done some really good things," Manning assured. "I've never put too much on preseason." ● METRO/TW

Storylines to watch

- Preseason Week 4: Giants at Patriots, Gillette Stadium
- When: 7:30 p.m., NBC4 ► Next: Week 1 at Redskins

1 Don't look for the starters for long

Head coach Tom Coughlin has been tight-lipped about the subject, but even quarterback Eli Manning says he doesn't think he'll play more than "a series or two."

That's too bad, specifically on offense, because Manning and his receivers have been out of sync this preseason. The new-look offensive line was the popular choice for units that might struggle, but it's been solid. What's drawn Coughlin's ire are the reserve receivers. Someone needs to fill Steve Smith's shoes. They also could use someone to step up at tight end.

2 Can everyone please stay healthy!

Veterans say the preseason is about honing skills, but more importantly staying healthy.

No team has had a rash of injuries like the Giants — and to important parts, too. They may already enter the Sept. 11 opener without defensive end Osi Umenyiora (knee), they're already without promising rookie defensive tackle Marvin Austin (IR, pectoral) and they've lost five cornerbacks to injury in camp. They don't need any more injuries.

3 Special teams were anything but special

Rookie wideout Jerrel Jernigan had an awful night against the Jets — misplaying several punts, including muffing two.

Veteran return man Domenik Hixon is still playing his way back from last year's torn ACL and wideout Victor Cruz and cornerback Aaron Ross have return experience, but figure to play larger, every-down roles. Jernigan can't have another night like he had Monday.

Jets host 'Dream Team'

The Jets close out the preseason tonight when they host Philadelphia in what could have been the most intriguing match-up of the preseason.

Unfortunately, all of the big names will be on the sidelines. That means Nnamdi Asomugha won't go up against a Jets team that he seemed destined to sign with and Plaxico Bur-ress won't be playing the Eagles after months of speculation that he was Philadelphia-bound.

Jets fans will get a chance to look at a few key reserves though, like Jeremy Kerley.

The Jets drafted Kerley in the fifth round this year because the rookie is a pure athlete. In Monday night's 17-3 win, Kerley had a catch for six yards as a wide receiver, two rushes for 13 yards out of the Wildcat and a 17-yard punt return.

BREAKING TIES (AND CODES) THAT BIND

Derek Jeter has split up with actress Minka Kelly. After three years, countless wedding rumors and plenty of surprising public appearances — like on the field after the Yankees won the 2009 World Series — they've gone their separate ways.

These are obviously two people that will land on their feet. Perhaps Jeter wins another World Series. Maybe Kelly's new show, "Charlie's Angels," will be a hit? So, you won't hear a faint violin playing here.

The real question is: Who will the next female be that Jeter adds to his résumé? There's no need to run through the A-list talent Jeter has dated over the past decade. Will he dip into the music genre? Does he go back to an actress? Maybe Jeter goes the Hunter Pence route and starts dating a Playboy model? (Google "Shannon James" and you can thank us later.)

Clearly, this will be a massive postseason subplot for the Yankees.

Snake in the helmet trick

Your wacky reptile story of the day: A high school football player in Arkansas picked up his helmet and put it on. While wearing it during practice, he felt something odd inside, but thought it was just his wet hair flopping around. During a break in the action, he took off his helmet and saw what appeared to be a little snake.

Thinking it was a prank — the old rubber snake in the helmet trick, huh?! — he grabbed it by the tail and it moved. Then he panicked and dropped the snake, which reportedly measured 10 to 12 inches in length, and one of his teammates killed it.

The approximate time the young man was practicing with a snake in his helmet? About 15 minutes.

Jimmer free to break the honor code

One of the most popular college basketball players ever, Jimmer Fredette, got engaged over the weekend. The 22-year-old Fredette was a lottery pick of the Sacramento Kings in June, and is slated to make a couple million a year on his rookie contract, whenever the lockout ends.

As soon as Fredette announced the engagement to BYU cheerleader Whitney Wonacott — on Twitter — the jokes were that he finally wanted to have sex.

Fredette went to BYU where there's a strict honor code. One of his teammates, Brandon Davies, was booted from the team for allegedly having sex with his girlfriend. Enjoy Sacramento!

Venus withdraws from Open

Venus Williams withdrew suddenly from the U.S. Open on Wednesday citing an autoimmune disease known as Sjögren's syn-

Jersey Girl: McHale scores the upset

Christina McHale punctuated the biggest victory of her young life with a 109-mph ace down the T before an overflow crowd on the Grandstand Court.

McHale, a 19-year-old Jersey Girl from Englewood Cliffs, downed Frenchwoman Marion Bartoli, 7-6 (2), 6-2 to advance to the third round.

"It's huge," McHale said of her win over the 2007 Wimbledon finalist. "I'm so ► Christina McHale upset No. 8 seed Marion Bartoli.

excited right now."

McHale became the youngest American to defeat a world No. 1 since 2001 when she beat Caroline Wozniacki in Cincinnati in August.

But now she has a chance to be the Melanie Oudin of 2011. Oudin created quite a buzz by reaching the quarterfinals here two years ago at 17.

Oudin has been unable to replicate her success, however, and was ousted in the first round this year. McHale hopes to avoid that type of letdown, whatever happens from here on out.

McHale gets to sleep in her own bed every night and play on courts with which she's familiar. She travels with her mother, Margarita, and trains in Queens with Patrick McEnroe, the general manager of USTA Player Development, who said she gives him a run for his money.

She admitted to using the same hyperbaric chamber in Alpine, N.J., that Novak Djokovic, the No. 1 seed on the men's side, used, but said she couldn't tell if it had any effect on her play.

"I tried it last year just a couple times," she said. "It feels like you're on an airplane."

McHale says she's focused on becoming the next great American female after the Williams sisters.

"That's what I'm working toward," she said.

All real estate advertising herein is subject to the Federal Fair Housing Act of 1968 and state and local fair housing laws. The Fair Housing Act makes it illegal to advertise any preference, limitation or discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin or an intention to make any such preference, limitation or discrimination. State or local laws may make unlawful advertising that discriminates on the basis of age, marital status, or sexual orientation. Metro U.S. will not knowingly accept any advertising for real estate which violates the law. The law requires that all dwellings advertised are available on an equal opportunity basis. If you have any questions regarding housing discrimination, call the Long Island Housing Services at (1800) 660-6920 in Long Island or the Anti-Discrimination Center at (212) 346-7600 in New York City. To file a complaint call HUD toll-free at (800) 669-9777 or the New York City Commission on Human Rights at (212) 306-7500.
